Swimmer Injured in Diving.
Michael Cross, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Cross, State street, Leetonia, is in a critical condition in the Central clinic at Salem, suffering from a broken neck sustained at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon while swimming in Beaver Creek, five miles southwest of Leetonia.

Cross was injured when he attempted to dive from a tree into a hole in the creek where the water is said to be about 20 feet deep. His foot slipped, and instead of diving in the deep water he struck a shallow place where the creek was about three feet deep.

Companions rescued him with a net as a result of the accident. He was taken to the Salem hospital.

PROFESSOR SNOOK admits that he "hammered Miss Theora Hix until she was unconscious, then cut her throat to end her suffering." His defense will be that she induced him to take drugs, which made him wild. In fact, he was responsible for her own murder.

THAT takes you far back, to the Garden of Eden, with the snake looking on, and Adam, saying: "Mulier me decipit."

"The woman tempted me and I did eat" is an excuse that has been used in every age and every court.

FARMERS will be glad, gamblers in wheat will be delighted, to hear there is a real wheat shortage. The estimated yield for this country and Canada is 486,000,000 bushels under last year's crop.

THE government plans a giant co-operative world-wide marketing organization with $20,000,000 back of it. The Farm Board, and similar agricultural co-operatives would work together, and Uncle Sam would supply the capital.

A serious effort to help the farmers is important to everybody. General prosperity depends on the farmers' ability to buy manufactured products.

RAYMOND POINCARÉ, having served his country for a life time, through war and peace, will retire at last, asking no reward but the satisfaction of having worked well for France.

Brand will take Poincaré's place as premier, thus filling that great office for the tenth time.

Few of us in America appreciate the high character and great ability of the man that guide the French republic, or understand fully their passionate devotion to ce beau pays de France.

The endurance of the airplanes is remarkable, worthy of praise.

BUT think of the two human engines "fearfully and wonderfully made," that have been running for years, hearts beating, lungs pumping, and nerves functioning, with no new parts, and the stomach developing the iron power, from raw products. There, you have something to admire.

EXTRA JUROR IS SOUGHT IN SNOOK TRIAL

Twelve are Seated When Court Recesses At Noon.

CALL NEW PANEL

"Fixed Opinions" Chief Stumbling Block in Murder Case.

COURTROOM, COLUMBUS, O., July 29.—Dr. James H. Snook, former college professor on trial for the murder of Miss Theora Hix, 25-year-old co-ed, became ill in court today and defense attorneys requested that his presence be not required at the afternoon session.

Judge Henry L. Scarlett took the request under consideration.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLAN, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

COURTROOM, COLUMBUS, O., July 29.—"Fixed opinions" proved to be the chief stumbling block again today in the seemingly monumental task of obtaining a jury to try Dr. James H. Snook for the murder of Miss Theora Hix, the "bashful" co-ed.

The first three prospective jurors examined this morning were excused because they had made up their minds as to the guilt or innocence of Snook.

For four successive court days "fixed opinions" has led all other reasons for dismissal of talesmen. Of the 62 prospective jurors examined up to late this forenoon, 21 had "fixed opinions." Thirteen were challenged because of their opposition to capital punishment. The others were excused for various reasons, such as "heating on the farm," defective hearing or ill health.

Attorneys in Hot Debate.
The original panel of 75 talesmen is nearing exhaustion. A new panel of 50 men and women appeared in court today and were sworn in for possibly jury duty.

The heat in the crowded courtroom and the long grind of jury selection began to try the nerves of the attorneys. While the fifty-eight talesman, C. D. Trimble, a traveling salesman, was undergoing examination, Prosecuting Attorney John J. Chester Jr., and E. O. Ricketts of defense counsel, engaged in hot debate.

"We, the officers and members of the Council of Administration of the Department of Ohio, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States of America, in regular session at East Liverpool, Ohio, believing that the Naval strength of our country should at all times be on a parity with that of any foreign power, disapprove the postponement, at this time, of the cruiser building program, and believe that this program should be carried on until such time as the relative strength agreed upon at the Washington Disarmament conference is reached."

The state organization also authorized the construction of a $20,000 cottage at the national home for widows and orphans of Foreign War veterans at Easton Rapids, Mich.

The session of the council, composed of 12 officers, including City Solicitor Frank H. Hoover, of East Liverpool, who is judge advocate, closed with a dinner last night.

MAYOR TO SIGN HEALTH BOARD PENSION PLAN

Measure Will Provide Annuities for Sanitary Policemen.

BUDGET ALSO O. K.

Sum of $3,300 is Set Aside for Three Systems.

Ordinances establishing a sanitary police pension fund and providing for the 1930 budget, in which $3,300 is set aside for pension purposes, will be signed by Mayor Ralph C. Benndum as soon as they come to his desk, the chief executive said today.

The budget provides $1,500 a year for the maintenance of the police department pension fund and $1,500 for the firemen's pension system and $300 for the sanitary police pension fund.

An amendment to the police and firemen's pension law enacted at the last session of the legislature made it mandatory for city councils to appropriate funds after pension systems are established. Legislation creating a sanitary police pension fund was enacted by city council at a special meeting last Thursday night when the budget ordinance was also approved.

PASTOR SAYS RUM, GAMBLING PLACES RUN HERE

Rev. Dr. Lawther Scores Man Who Buys Liquor.

LAUDS NEWSPAPER

Refers to Hospital, Rough Streets and Lack Of Civic Pride.

Charges that speakeasies and gambling places "run practically wide open" in East Liverpool were made by the Rev. J. H. Lawther, pastor, in a sermon in the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

Basing his discourse on Nehemiah removing the approach from Jerusalem by rebuilding her walls, he spoke on the subject, "Removing the Reproach from Our City."

He referred to lack of civic pride in some sections; lauded the city's newspaper; urged better financial support for the hospital; called the city's streets and sidewalks rough and declared the greatest need here is diversified industries.

Hits "Self-Satisfaction."

"The greatest stumbling block to the advancement of our city is the spirit of self-satisfaction," he said. "Too many grumble and growl and find fault, yet are not willing to put their shoulders to the wheel and help make it a bigger and better city."

He branded the man who buys liquor from a bootlegger as a "partner with those who are selling the stuff."

Cites Sabbath Observance.

He said in part: "We should be patriotic to our own city. In many respects it is the best city for us in the U. S. In it we find many things of which we are justly proud. The class of people in East Liverpool is above that of most other cities of its size with the exception of possibly college towns in this section of the country. Our business houses and banks, for the size of the city and community, are the very best in the Tri-State section. In comparison with other towns it is a very good place to buy. Our schools under the present adverse, crowded and scattered conditions are doing very good work—not all that we want and hope for but under the conditions all we can expect. We have very good churches working in such harmony and with such cooperation as is not found in many other cities."

"While our Sabbaths are not observed as they should be, yet we have many things for which we should thank God. Our movies are not open on the Sabbath day as is true in nearly every other town in Ohio. We have no dance halls running; no great gambling dens; no amusement parks running on Sunday in our city. No great ball games, horse races or dog races, no shows or carnivals on the Sabbath. Compared with many other towns we

FOUR MEN FLEE, TWO SLAIN IN PRISON BREAK

Six Buildings Razed by Incendiaries at Auburn, N. Y.

FIVE-HOUR RIOT Eleven Prisoners and Four Jailers are Wounded.

AUBURN, N. Y., July 29.—(INS)—With six of its buildings leveled by incendiary fires, Auburn prison presented the aspect of a war-torn village today as posers combed the countryside in search of four desperate criminals who escaped from the penal stronghold after leading the most sensational jailbreak in the history of New York state.

It was not until the early hours of this morning, after a careful check-up of the prisoners, that the identity of the escaped convicts became known. Then the police departments of cities throughout the eastern United States and Canada were asked to watch for the following four men:

Arthur Barry, 39, sentenced to 25 years' imprisonment from Nassau county for first-degree burglary. Joseph Capricio, 20, serving 20 years for second-degree robbery. He was sentenced in Rochester.

Steppe Pawlak, 29, sentenced from Erie county to life imprisonment as a fourth offender on a first-degree robbery charge.

George Small, 33, New York city, serving 12 years for second-degree robbery.

State Troops Aid Guards.

Two prisoners were shot and killed, eleven were wounded, some of them critically and four jailers were wounded by bullets from riot guns in the hands of convicts before the uprising was quelled after a bloody battle of five hours, during which state troopers from miles around reinforced the prison guard and firemen braved a baptism of fire in an unsuccessful effort to save the burning buildings.

Names of the dead convicts were announced today as Joseph Cirrione, of Buffalo, who was serving from seven and one-half to 15 years for arson, and George Wright, also

CRICHTON DIES, HAUGLAND HURT AT MINNEAPOLIS

Plane Crashes After Being in Air 155 Hours.

ONE MAN ASLEEP

Fatality Occurs as Note Says "All Is Well."

MINNEAPOLIS, July 29.—(INS)—Captain P. L. Crichton, veteran army flier, was killed and Owen Haugland, pilot of the endurance plane, "Minnesota," was critically injured here today when the plane crashed after being in the air more than a hundred hours.

Goes into Tail Spin.

The plane crashed just five minutes after a note had been dropped asking for gasoline and telling onlookers that all was well.

The note added that no oil was needed.

Then as the ship zoomed into the clouds it was seen to falter. The "Minnesota" went into a tail spin, hovered perilously over Wold-Chamberlain airport, and with the speed of a meteor, crashed to the ground. The fliers had been in the air 155 hours when the crash occurred.

Cause of Crash is Mystery.

Crichton was dead when rescuers reached the plane. Haugland was unconscious and was rushed to a hospital.

Crichton was piloting the plane at the time. Haugland, who has made four attempts to better the record now being established in St. Louis, was believed to have been asleep when the crash occurred. He was found stretched upon an improvised bed.

Authorities were at a loss to account for the crash, the plane was apparently functioning well when it careened wildly and plunged downward.

ICE CREAM AND COLD DRINK HABIT, ONCE CONDEMNED, SPREADS ABROAD

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(INS)—The American ice cream and cold drink habit, often either ridiculed or condemned abroad, nevertheless is fast spreading to other nations. Like the chewing gum habit which the doughboys took to France, the soft drink has found a foothold not only in Europe but in South America. And credit for the first installation soda fountains abroad is given by the department of commerce to those Americans who live or go abroad and want to drink something besides cocktails.

A department report shows that in the last five years exports of American soda fountains have almost tripled, growing in value from $189,797 to $537,814. Canada is the best customer, in part because of American tourists, but the soda fountain habit is chiefly confined in the northern neighboring country to Toronto and Winnipeg. Soda fountains have found their way into many Latin American cities, chiefly in Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Santiago, Lima, Havana and Mexico City. The "sweet shop" business is growing rapidly in Australia, the department reports. Even in Germany the soda fountain seems to be making headway in competition with the beer garden. Germany ranks as the second best customer for American soda fountains.

Mrs. John Heath of 1014 Locust street, East Liverpool, Ohio, suffered so with neuritis and stomach trouble she could hardly get about the house, but after trying most everything she ever heard of, finally took a treatment of ORANGE ROOT and here is this happy lady's report: "I have had stomach, liver and neuritis troubles for 2 years. I started the treatment and it sure went right to work. Day by day I improved, and knew HEALTH was just around the corner. My digestion was quickly restored and my appetite came back strong. Everything I ate seemed to agree with me, for my strength is back to normal, and I do not feel tired and worn-out anymore. The bilious spells have vanished and the neuritis pains have been swept away. I feel like a different woman since ORANGE ROOT rid me of my suffering and restored me to health. There is not a trace of these ailments in my body. I found the golden Nuggets to be the finest laxative and liver regulators I ever used, and shall always keep them in the house."

Municipal Pensions

Prompted probably by sentimental reasons East Liverpool's city council, by unanimous vote, has created an other municipal pension system in the establishment of annuities for sanitary policemen. This enactment, which awaits the approval or veto of Mayor Ralph C. Benedum, was placed on the ordinance book Friday night, when levies were authorized for it as well as the police and firemen's pension funds which were previously established.

The sanitary police pension system is created under the provisions of Section 4,632 of the General Code of Ohio, which provides that it shall be administered by the health board, or officer in control, and five members of the sanitary police force. Or, in the event the force has less than five members, by as many as recommended upon petition. In East Liverpool there are two sanitary policemen.

The budget, which will be forwarded to the county auditor for pruning, provides $300 annually for the sanitary police pension system and $1,500 each for the patroldmen's and firemen's funds. Under the legislation already voted, no contributions will be made to the funds by the members of the respective departments.
 However, patrolmen and firemen have a nucleus by reason of benefit entertainments, and from this one patrolman is now receiving $80 monthly. Half pay will be allowed retired policemen and firemen, while it is presumed that $25 monthly shall be granted pensioned sanitary officers.

Granting that the pension system has been adopted in many other cities, the lawmakers should not overlook the fact that the municipal exchequer is not overflowing. And since East Liverpool already is up to the 15-mill limit, the city's contributions to pension funds must necessarily be taken from other departments.
 Thus it looks like a case of depriving Peter to pay Paul.

And since for the goose is sauce for the gander, for it is not improbable that street and water works departments, many employees of which have long-time service records, will ask that they be given the same consideration as patrolmen, firemen and sanitary policemen.

Ballooning Wheat Prices

Advices from Chicago are to the effect that predictions of $1.75 or two-dollar wheat are now as common as were predictions of eighty or ninety-cent wheat at end of May.

Certainly these current predictions are not wholly without justification. It would be hard to recall a year when there was so marked a change in so short a period in wheat prospects. Within sixty days wheat has risen from the vicinity of the dollar mark and gone as high as $1.67 1/2. It is only fair to say, however, that the latter quotation was exceptional, the average high mark being about $1.50. But the market since the early part of June has been markedly bullish and has manifested some striking jumps. Wednesday's highest quotation was $1.52 1/2, but there was a bearish movement on despite continued reports of reduced estimates from the Canadian wheat provinces and our own Great Northwest.

The explanation is very simple. While supply and demand very frequently cut little figure in making the prices of some products, they are all powerful in affecting the price of wheat. There are some products, such as fruits and some vegetables, which are not essentials, but wheat is an essential, and a threatened shortage sends the price ballooning.

A few weeks ago the spring wheat estimate for the three great western wheat-producing provinces of Canada
 —Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—was 325,000,000 bushels. Wednesday a Chicago crop expert held that the spring wheat production would not exceed 215,000,000, and Winnipeg reported the big wheat interests there making an estimate of 150,000,000 bushels, holding that it would average no more than six bushels to the acre as a result of the long continued drought. How near this is to a crop failure may be judged by citing the fact that the crop in the three provinces last year was 508,000,000 bushels.

The outlook in Montana and the Dakotas is almost as bad as in the three western Canada provinces and the situation in the other wheat growing states of the Great Northwest is not much better. It is this situation in these wheat-growing districts of our own land and across the border in Canada which has brought cheer to the wheat-growers of the Central states and the Middle West, where bumper crops are the rule.

Golf And Diplomacy

The Prince of Wales sounded a new note in international accord when he recently expressed himself in favor of more golf and less politics. His royal highness appreciates that of all the sports, golf is the most adaptable for the promotion of international amity.

There was a real demonstration of this when Jess Sweetser won the British amateur title at Murfield, Scotland. For a moment there was a tragic hush in the British gallery, but it did not last long. Subsequently the victory was ratified in the club house, and it was a real ratification.

Francis Ouimet at the piano started "Sweet Adeline," and an American quartet assisted. In a few minutes the Scots and the British were picking up the refrain and it floated in triumphal chorus across the Scottish moors.

Then the business of drinking to eternal friendship started, and both sides meant it. There was some of the sincerest quaffing that ever took place at a nineteenth hole. The American Walker Cup team, which was present at this international ceremony, barely made the train for London.

After such a demonstration as this it is to be regretted that Mr. Herbert Hoover, president of the United States, is not a golfer, since so much can be attained diplomatically through this game. But Mr. Hoover, like his predecessor, is a fisherman.

Of course, there is nothing against fishing, but it does not lend itself to the usages of diplomacy. Two diplomats off on a fishing trip would be at different parts of the stream, each with his own bait or lure.
 Piscatorial diplomacy would result in what the boys in the back room call an impasse.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—The seeds of discord between China and Russia over the Chinese Eastern railway were sown nearly forty years ago, years before a Soviet government in Russia or a Republican nationalist government in China were dreamed of save by a few obscure revolutionaries. The story is one of more than ordinary fascination. It is in every respect a story of the East and the West and a further proof that, so far as full understanding is concerned, Kipling's dictum that "never the twain shall meet" holds true.

To begin with, it should not be assumed that the Chinese Eastern railway is an obscure, desert streak of rusty rails with an occasional old-fashioned engine hauling a few dilapidated cars over it. On the contrary, the Chinese Eastern is a very up-to-date railroad, skillfully operated. Its freight traffic is heavy. Its passenger trains are luxurious and notable for their cleanliness.
 It has the latest type of sleeping cars and dining cars.
 Above all it is fantastically profitable, paying net profits, after all operating expenses and charges have been met of around fifty per cent, sometimes more.

The Chinese Eastern railway is approximately 1630 miles in length. It extends from Manchuria on the west, at which point it connects with the Trans-Siberian railway, to Vladivostok on the Pacific, running for most of its length through Manchuria. It has an important southern branch reaching down toward Mukden and many short lines and spurs tapping lumber camps and small villages.

The present dispute is over the control of the railway, its operation, and policy. The Russians claim the road belongs to them. The Chinese claim it is a private company but under their jurisdiction by force of contract.

Manchuria itself is doubtful territory. The Chinese Nationalist government claims it is a part of China. Manchuria itself claims to be independent. Soviet Russia supports the latter claim but asserts that it has rights in Manchurian territory.

Go back to the nineties. Alexander III was Czar of all the Russias. After a decade of revolutionized Soviet states, it is a little difficult to remember what old Russia was. Alexander was a progressive monarch. As an index to the position which Russia held in the world it might be recalled that Paris copied its styles in gowns and millinery from Moscow and St. Petersburg.
 The Imperial Russian embassy at Washington was the most splendid and glamorous at our national capital.
 In those days there were no Russian princes in the movies or waiting on tables in night clubs. Of course there were no movies and no night clubs but what is meant is that the Russian nobility stood for something splendid and a little remote.

Readers who clearly remember the Russo-Japanese war will recognize the name of Count Witte as the leading diplomatist in the peace negotiations in which President Theodore Roosevelt took a large part and for which he received the Nobel Peace Prize. The Count was a close friend and trusted adviser of the Czar Alexander III. These two statesmen together planned the Trans-Siberian Railway.

The Russian and Siberian stretches offered no obstacles as nothing but Russian territory in undisputed possession was involved. But Doctor Badmaieff, a distinguished subject of the Czar, pointed out that Vladvostok, the Pacific terminal, was far north, having its harbor frozen over the winter. He suggested a southern route, by way of Peking, to a Chinese Pacific port.
 His scheme had many points to commend it and its consideration delayed the whole project to some extent.
 Count Witte opposed it on the ground that for Russia to obtain a concession to run a railway through Peking to a Chinese port would bring all Europe buzzing about Russia's ears. A compromise was decided upon and the present Chinese Eastern railway is the result.

Now China and Japan had just conducted a war in which China had been worsted, so far as she knew. At least the war stopped. Most of the people of China never heard of it; indeed many have not heard of it yet nor of the World War, for that matter.

However, Japan was in a position to deal strongly with the Chinese government. Russian diplomatic intervention alone prevented Japan from obtaining a considerable portion of Chinese territory. Russia almost guaranteed a loan to China which was placed in France, a traditional ally of Russia, despite Napoleon's burning of Moscow. Paris, it will be remembered, is even now the headquarters of the old Russian regime.

China appreciated these favors from Russia so when the Emperor Alexander III and Count Witte approached the Chinese government on the matter of the railway right of way there was entire willingness on China's part to make the Manchurian route possible. The famous Li Hung Chang was the negotiator for China throughout.

Count Witte was an old school diplomatist of the Talleyrand type. He represented the Occident, was a European, and stood for mechanical progress, as the idea of the railway itself attested. He was skilled in drawing diplomatic protocols and legal documents—versed in the western forms.

Li Hung Chang was of the old Chinese imperial school.
 He too was a diplomatist. He had been governor of a province and then viceroy. He stood high in the imperial favor. He represented the Orient and he also was skilled in the drawing of contracts—in the Chinese manner.

But what constituted important phraseology in the East was regarded as unimportant in the West. What was regarded as binding and all in order in western usage seemed loose in eastern eyes. That fundamental difference sowed the seeds of today's struggle over the Chinese Eastern railway.

Ritzy Rosalie

Of course, Rosalie doesn't expect to herd purse this evening but it's part of her costume and therefore a very important accessory. All the new chiffon evening frocks have ac-complexion is quite flawless, too, this evening—for didn't she protect it all day on the beach with one of the the beach she tucked it in its compartment in the bottom of the matching envelope beach bag.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

HOLLYWOOD, July 29.—All Hollywood boulevard needs to complete the Broadway picture is a Times building. It is almost the same electrical brilliance, the same faces, and the same manners. And with the arrival of the talkies Broadwayites have descended upon it with the rush of seven year locusts on a Nebraska wheat field.

Even Memphis, the newsboy, who came here with his dream of movie fame, and is now snared on a Hollywood corner crying the latest editions, says with philosophic content:
 "All my life my goal was New York.
 Things come to those who wait. I waited long enough and New York came to me."

In New York the Hotel Astor has long been the clearing house of movie, stage and vaudeville gossip. This clearing house has now moved to the Hotel Roosevelt on Hollywood boulevard. Ninety-five per cent of its patrons register from Bagdad-on-the-Subway. All the new movie help stops there—if they know their onions.

One of the principal owners is Norma Talmadge's husband, Joe Schenk. The inn got away to a bad start. A big stockholder is Sid Gra-man, that astute little ex-newspaper showman with a wild mop of bushy hair. Grauman is the Ziegfeld of the west coast movie houses.

He sensed the Broadway invasion when the films began to stutter. He applied showmanship to hotel keeping. Every theatrical personage from the lowest ham to the star was given a "night" in the grill of the Roosevelt.
 He knew the Broadway vanity. And the hotel prospered.

The headquaters of what was once New York Tin Pan Alley is now the lobby of the same hotel. These alert young men of hingo-bingo land are here en masse. The movie theme song has made Hollywood the popular music El Dorado. A hit song in Hollywood means financial independence.

And those White Way wits who wasted bright nifties on befozelled night club stay outs are now cashing in on their talents. A good gag essay almost as high as a good whatever you-think-up. The lad who can put over the fast ones is knee deep in clover.

It is interesting to watch the Broadway actor expand under the climatic and scenic novelty of his semi-tropical environment. Used to breakfasting in the middle of the afternoon, he has finished a half day's work by noon. He is in bed by 10 o'clock most of the time and his out door life has given him a bronze tinge. There's Ripley. Believe it or Not—an actor with a tan! He is learning to play tennis, golf and hikes over the mountain trails and snags a few trout. He is changed in every way but one. He talks as big and loud as ever.

This morning in my local room I was this way and that way—as who is not?—watching a window washer on the sill of the 9th floor window across the way. It seemed to me he was risking his neck unnecessarily by dancing about and waving at people below. Finally he began juggling two sponges, suddenly missed his step and plunked downward with a sickening rush. My throat went dry and the horizon black. I peered cautiously into the street. The second had been caught in a net and a half dozen movie cameras were clicking merrily.

The brightness of Hollywood is dimmed by the pathetic army of extras. They are up early for the trek to studio casting agencies to hear the monotonous: "Sorry, nothing today."
 Then they return to laze through the day on the boulevard benches and other lounging places. As an annual visitor for years I recognize the same faces. The futility of it all gives them the set expression of a Benda mask. In the studio lots they are considered incurable. They know success is impossible yet refuse to give up.

No idol is so idolized as the movie idol in Hollywood. When the rest of the world glances at their clay feet, they can be assured Hollywood will never forget. It is a paradise for Those Who Never Come Back.

The big hour in Hollywood is between six and seven in the evening when everybody dines, preens and puts on the lug. They strut sitting down.

A German film star offered a big contract in the talkies refuses to learn English. And why should he?
 He sees most of the American movie actors getting along nicely without it.
 So why be ridid?

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Not long ago I happened to be in conversation with two young mothers.
 They asked many questions, so I asked a few. I inquired of each one how much water she gave her baby.

One of the young women seemed horrified at the idea of giving water to a baby. "Why," she said, "milk and orange juice contain all the water required." Frankly, I do not agree with this dear mother, but do share the view of the other, who said she gives her baby water several times a day.

It is too common a belief that milk is a beverage alone. In a sense it is, but I wish to impress upon everybody that milk is in reality a food and one of the most valuable of all foods. Its great place in the human dietary is due to the vital food elements it contains. It must not be regarded as merely a thirst destroyer.

In certain age groups milk is almost as essential as air. At every age milk is an important food. It is conspicuous for its digestibility. It contains the building and repair materials. It possesses the required salts and vitamins.

While milk contains a large percentage of water, its use does not do away with the necessity of giving water in addition. Neither does the giving of orange, prune or tomato juice, supply the necessary quality of water.

In my opinion every baby should have water between its feedings. It must be pure water, made so by boiling and cooling.

Without water the intestines and kidneys are not flushed properly. As a result of the failure to remove waste the baby is not sweet. There is a sour smell. The urine is high-colored and irritating. It may produce scalding of the buttocks and surrounding parts.

The lack of water results in constipation. There must be an abundant of fluid to dissolve all the waste products

"BEHIND CURTAIN" DRAMATIC STORY

Weird native songs and chants of Arab camel-drivers to barbaric music around their desert campfire promise one of the striking and unusual features made possible by Fox Movietone in "Behind That Curtain," all-talking production directed by Irving Cummings which will be seen today at the Ceramic theater. Incidentally, George Middleton, celebrated playwright, wrote the dialogue.

One of the most dramatic sequences of the picture, adapted from Earl Derr Biggers' widely-read Scotland Yard romance of the same title, is laid in the Persian desert, with Warner Baxter in the role of "John Beetham" and Lois Morgan portraying Eva Manning, traveling with a caravan bent upon archaeological exploration. Gilbert Emery is also featured. He plays Sir Frederick Prince.

Scenes of this part of the absorbing narrative were filmed and recorded in Death Valley, a barren waste in the far west that is far below sea level. Arabs and Hindus, with nine camels, many horses and other suitable equipment were taken to the desert and in the scenes depicting the night camp, Cummings practically permitted the Orientals to direct themselves.

"THE VALIANT" HAS ABSORBING THEME

Fidelity of a condemned murderer to high ideals, even to the point of refusing to acknowledge his identity to his own sister that she and his mother might be saved from heartache and disgrace, is the absorbing theme of "The Valiant," Fox Movietone all-dialogue production now at the American theater.

With Paul Muni in the exacting role of the convict and Marguerite Churchill co-featured in the feminine lead, the picture has been hailed as one of the dramatic achievements of the season in Fox Movietone. It is presented by a supporting cast of stellar rank, including John Mack Brown, De Witt Jennings, Richard Carlyle, Edith Yorke, Henry Kolker, Cliss Dempsey and George Pearce.

Adapted from a stage play written by Holworthy Hall and Robert Midlemass, "The Valiant" was direct-

"STRANGE CARGO" CASTS STAGE VET

Frank Reicher, veteran stage and screen actor-director, is one of the leading featured players in "Strange Cargo," Pathe's first 100 per cent dialogue Photophone super-special, which comes to the State theater today. This production was personally directed by Benjamin Glazer, head of Pathe's sound department.

Reicher augments a cast which includes Lee Patrick, George Barrard, Kyrle Bellew, Ned Sparks, Russell Gleason, Josephine Brown, Claude King and other prominent stage players. Exhaustive screen and voice tests were made to secure the best players for exacting roles. The action takes place on a palatial yacht and it is dramatic and swift moving.

Reicher was one of Paramount's first directors and is well known for his direction of "An American Tragedy" and other stage hits. Recently he was featured in "Four Sons," "The Blue Danube" and other important pictures.

"Strange Cargo" is an adaptation of a story by Benjamin Glazer and Melchior Lengyel. Horace Jackson is credited with the adaptation.

U. S. WAR DEBT LEDGER CLOSED

WASHINGTON, July 29.—France's reluctant ratification of the Mellon-Berenger debt agreement, under which she is to repay the $4,000,000,000 borrowed from the United States treasury during the war, virtually closes the government's war debt ledger.

Of the billions poured out in foreign loans in the anxious years of 1917-18-19 there now remains unfunded on the treasury's books only the Russian debt of approximately $300,000,000. Some officials have long since kissed this goodbye, but there are others who still believe that ultimately even this debt will be collected. At least in part, when and if diplomatic relations are restored between Moscow and Washington

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

BY JOAN

Let's start off with something interesting to most of us, that is vacations. Suppose you're going to the seashore for a week or two, or going to Yellow stone, or taking a lake trip or motoring Northward? No matter where you go or how long you stay, you'll appreciate the freedom from caring and worry, that comes with carrying adequate insurance. It's not surprising that so many folks have been making inquiries at The Leo C. Cooper Agency, as regards to "Tourist Insurance." With this Personal Effects policy you can protect your baggage, against loss, theft, damage or fire. The cost is so trifling that no one will risk vacationing without this protection.

Will your hair obey you? Will it lie in flat, careful waves close to your head, let's say—or curl in bewitching little ringlets? Will it do, oh, any of the many charming things that modern hair can and does do? Why of course it will, if you treat it to a Permanent at The Stern Beauty Shoppe. They carefully analyze the hair of their patrons before giving the wave. Coarse hair, I'm told, demands an entirely different method of wrapping, solution strength and heat from soft, fine hair. The crowded booths at The Stern Beauty Shoppe, testify to the confidence folks place in their knowledge and methods.

Any well-dressed woman chooses her stockings with infinite care. She wants a flattering style and she insists also on a flattering shade. These clear, lustrous chiffon silk hose at LEMMER'S possess both charms. Here are some very fine brands of hosiery including Gordon's white with blue arrows and white with green arrows, the Medallia hose featuring the new ankle clock and Belding's hose with the slenderette heel. There's such an alluring assortment of colors from which to choose... shades for daytime and evening wear.

An electric refrigerator solves the summer problem of preserving foods—keeping milk, butter, vegetables and fruits, fresh and wholesome. Frididaire... quiet, efficient and economical, is a tried, tested and proved refrigerator. Ice cubes aplenty (pretty pink or green ones if you please) frozen desserts and deliciously crisp salads are only some of the wonderful conveniences that tempt one to buy Frididaire. When you visit The Crockery City Ice & Products Co. and see the latest improvements on this refrigerator, then I'm positive you'll lose no time in making arrangements for owning the one of your choice.

Not to neglect the little fellows from two to eight years of age... we beg to report that all Kaynee suits at OGILVIE'S have been reduced. For instance, those popular little Oliver Twist suits that sold for $2.95 are now marked at $2.35. Mothers who are acquainted with Kaynee quality will promptly take advantage of this sale and add at least several new suits to sonny's wardrobe. A splendid opportunity now to buy his suits for school... at savings that are worth while.

It's remarkable, the difference that one new chair will make in a living room. Why not rearrange your furniture? Try that table over against the wall and put this chair in the other corner. Don't let your husband come home every night to the same placid scene. Stimulate your home with a few new pieces of furniture. I can tell you where there are some wonderful bargains in Occasional Pieces. You walk into the Frank Crock Co. and look around. I hope those Pull-up chairs haven't all been sold. We've seen some bargains but those chairs totally eclipse any we've ever seen. If you need a chair, do make a special effort to see these.—Adv.

NEW SPORTS FASHIONS OF DISTINCTION

One way to enjoy a tennis game is to know you're the best-dressed girl on the court. Sharon Lynn, left, certainly stands a top-rank chance in her chic, white crepe chine frock with a red and white polka dot scarf worn in a novel way. The same goes for the bridal path, as Lois Moran, center, is well aware, so she has achieved a "different" costume with the aid of a smart cork helmet. Lo' Lane, right, has been invited to a yachting party, and she went to a naval fashion bureau for costume suggestions. As a result she has gathered together a charming ensemble including a middy suit of white flat crepe with hat of white imported jersey to match.

FIVE WEEK-END 'AUTO WRECKS

None Injured in Crashes on County Roads.

More than a half dozen automobile accidents occurred on roads in East Liverpool and the southern part of Columbiana county over the week-end.

A sedan, driven by John Prosser, Ohio avenue, was overturned in a crash with another sedan driven by Charles Moss, 326 North Seventh street, Steubenville, a short distance north of the Township line school on the Youngstown-East Liverpool road Sunday morning. The Prosser machine took fire following the crash, but the blaze was extinguished with a can of water. One passenger in the Prosser car was hurt.

A sedan, driven by Homer White, McKees Rocks, Pa., was damaged when it went into a ditch in Thompson park, early Sunday morning. White was not hurt.

One Driver Fined.
Thomas McCool, Hopedale, O., was fined $50 by Municipal Judge Hanley today on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated as the result of a crash with a car owned by D. F. Nellis near the Second Baptist church, Pennsylvania avenue, at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. McCool, police reported, was headed west in Pennsylvania avenue when he sidwiped the Nellis machine, driven by Joseph Roberts, East Third street.

The Nellis machine was knocked to the street car tracks, while McCool's car crashed through the guard fence and over a 60-foot embankment into a vegetable garden. He was arrested by Patrolman John Richards. Both cars were damaged but no one was hurt.

Automobile driven by Carl Tullis, Beaver Falls, Pa., and C. D. McCullough, Ravine street, figured in a collision in Harvey avenue yesterday afternoon. The crash, according to McCullough, occurred when Tullis pulled his machine to the left directly in front of him. Both drivers reported the accident to police.

Racing Dogs Cut.
Cars driven by D. R. Maggard, Superior, Neb., W. T. Smith, West Point, and J. H. Kountz, Canton, crashed at the west end of the Canton bridge on the Lincoln highway, Lisbon, about 6:30 o'clock this morning. Smith was driving east when his car is said to have skidded and crashed into Maggard's car going west. Kountz's car following Smith's automobile, also skidded and crashed into the Maggard car.

None of the three drivers were hurt but two of the eight greyhound racing dogs, carried in the Maggard car, were cut. The Maggard and Smith cars were taken to Lisbon garages, but the Kountz car was driven away under its own power.

Relief from the 95-degree heat yesterday came today with rain.

Four Convicts Flee

of Buffalo, incarcerated for 15 years for robbery in the first degree.

One of the four wounded guards lies near death. He is Eugene Pascoe, of Auburn, who was shot four times while battling the rioters.

1,700 Men Nearly Escape.
Beyond the shadow of a doubt, this jailbreak came close to resulting in a general delivery of the 1,700 criminals housed in Auburn prison than any other past jail uprisings in the history of the state. Carefully planned and possibly engineered by powerful underworld forces outside the institution, the break occurred with such startling suddenness that the guests were taken entirely unawares and in a few minutes the entire place was in an uproar.

The 150 guards who comprise the prison staff were hard pressed to prevent a general riot until state troops, armed with machine guns, rifles, pistols and riot guns, arrived on the scene to help hold the criminals at bay. But in spite of these reinforcements, augmented hourly as troops arrived from more distant stations, the riot lasted for five hours, the movements of the criminals being hidden by the heavy pall of smoke thrown up from the burning buildings.

Virtually every structure on the prison grounds, with the exception of the main sleeping quarters of the men and women prisoners, was razed to the ground. Preliminary estimates of the material damage exceeded the quarter million dollar mark, and in addition virtually all the prison records, including Bartillon cards and fingerprints, were lost in the blaze.

THREE KILLED ON CROSSING

Fourth Person Falls
Dead When Informed
Of Tragedy.

GALVA, Ill., July 29.—(INS)—Edward Temple, 60, Galesburg, his wife, Margaret, and Miss Dora Fulton, 45, Wataga, Ill., were killed here today when their automobile was struck by a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy train. Finis K. Barr, Charlevoix, Mich., passenger on the train, apparently a minister, shaving in a Pullman when the crash came, ran from the car as the train halted, asked the cause of the delay and when informed of the tragedy, fell dead.

would add to street noises. It might drown out the worst of them to have taxis sining or playing radio jazz on every block.

BUT the mayor's decision rules out the use of private individuals will install automobile radios, for the average American wants to be quite sure that they will never have too much time for thought.

By the way, Mr. E. S. Gorrell, president of the Stutz Motor Company, would like us to know that, his was the first company to install automobile radios. Anybody with a prior claim please communicate with Mr. Gorrell.

CHICAGO gangsters, running the "dog race racket," the fools that bet on races, and the public generally, ask this question: Why is it legal to race, and bet on animals with four legs and hoofs, and illegal to bet on racing dogs that have no hoofs?

Such is the Chicago ruling. Horses may race and men may bet on them. Dogs must not race, no gambling on them allowed.

The speed of horses is no longer important, since automobiles have arrived. The speed of dogs might, conceivably, have some importance in hunting, or chasing criminals.

BUT utility has nothing to do with it. Eminent respectable and prosperous gentlemen like to breed horses. Racing and gambling are necessary to pay expenses. With no gambling, the tracks would be deserted. The racketeers say justice is out, and propose to attract public attention to their woes, with the help of a few bombs.

FRANK O'MALLEY, a good reporter before he began magazine work—not as good as Julian Ralph, S. S. Carvalho, Donnelly, killed while reporting a fire in the dry goods district, or Richard Harding Davis—but a good reporter, turns his back on the United States.

He will live the rest of his life in France.

The duty of an American who doesn't like what happened in the United States is to stay here and help change it.

O'MALLEY will return, singing "Home, Sweet Home." You can't transplant an old tree; or if you do, it doesn't like it.

TWO more verses of "Home, Sweet Home," written by John Howard Payne, in the author's handwriting, have been sent to the library of congress. They don't add much to the song.

THE tune, which is the main thing, was adopted by Payne, from a song that he heard a peasant girl singing in Sicily.

YOUTH will be served.
Two young American boys, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, Saturday defeated the formidable French players, Cochet and Borotra, in the Davis Cup tennis contest.

The two remarkable young American boys, one from Texas, one from New Jersey, smashing back the hard volleys of the Frenchmen, amazed the spectators.

Tennis is for youth; more important games like thinking, for later on.

The fatal heat prostrations occurred at Cleveland, Cincinnati and Gallipolis. The drownings took place at Springfield, Malta and near Newark, Hamilton, and New Carlisle.

Fatal Crash at Canton.

One person was killed and five were injured in an automobile crash at Canton. Mrs. Everett Mercer, 25, of Mt. Clemens, Mich., was fatally injured and her two-year-old daughter, Jewell, was seriously hurt when their automobile collided with one driven by Charles Berkey, 25, of Canton. Mr. Mercer and their 8-year-old son, received minor injuries in the crash. Berkey and William McDermott, 30, of Canton, who was riding with Berkey, were in a hospital today but will recover.

Dayton reported that Doodford Kinser, 20, was fatally burned when he lighted a match to see whether gasoline was flowing into the tank of his auto. In running out of gas, Kinser had halted a passing motorist and obtained enough to take him to a filling station.

Stepping into a deep hole at Crystal lake, Kenneth Thompson, 21, of New Castle, was drowned while pushing a boat from the bank, preparatory to fishing.

Death of Charles Petty, 35, resulted when the auto in which he was riding crashed into a Big Four freight train at a crossing in Kenton. Oat Curt, 22, a passenger in the automobile, was seriously hurt.

The first fatality due to the heat in Hamilton county this year was that of a man believed to be Leroy Hananor, 42, which occurred at Cincinnati Sunday morning.

Word came from Cadiz that Joe Russo, 48, Parlett coal miner, was killed last night when he tried to stop a gun fight which is alleged to have taken place between Rocco Tredosso, 35, and Frank Deandel, 43, authorities are looking for Tredosso.

Cleveland Reports Two Deaths.
Cleveland reported two deaths due to the heat wave. Jacob Vogt, 62, and John C. Fulton, 28, are the dead there.

The heat claimed another victim in Gallia county, near Gallipolis, when Joseph Davis died because of the intense warmth of the weather.

Cecil Kinkade, 21, of Malta, was drowned in the Muskingum river near Zanesville. The accident occurred at a point known as Rocky Locks.

John Ernest, 30, lost his life in a small creek near Newark while bathing.

William Hawkins, 22, who resides at Reilly, near Hamilton, waded beyond his depth in a stream near his home and was drowned. He could not swim.

John Ernest, 35, was drowned while swimming Sunday night at Springfield.

FOUR NABBED IN RUM RAIDS

Judge Hanley Metes
Out Fines Totalling $475.

Four persons, three men and one woman, were nabbed by police in liquor raids over the week-end.

George Croxall, 133 Rural lane, was fined $225 and costs on a "third offense" charge. A half gallon jug and a half pint bottle of moonshine whisky were found at the Croxall home, police said.

James Cunningham, Joyce street teamster, drew a fine of $100 on a possession count. A half gallon of whisky is also alleged to have been confiscated in his home.

Home of Mrs. Percy Monroe, West Ninth street, was visited Saturday afternoon, following the receipt of complaints. Five bottles of home brew were found. She was fined $150 on a liquor possession count, while another charge of disorderly conduct is pending.

M. L. Parsons, who was arrested in Apple alley, Saturday afternoon in possession of four half pints of whisky, was released upon his promise to cease handling liquors. Parsons, police say, is past 70 years of age. He paid a fine on a liquor charge about two weeks ago.

have few drinking dens and parties ending the Sabbath day will fight and murders.

Newspaper is Good He Says.
"Take the East Liverpool paper and compare it with newspapers from other cities and you will find it one of the best in the state, considering the size of the city. The ministers of East Liverpool appreciate the real service which is being rendered by our local paper."

"While we have but few millionaires we have not many in extreme poverty. Our potteries are the greatest in the world but are just now having a great struggle against foreign competition, but we are hoping for some relief through high tariff legislation. While wages are not high we have at least a living wage. "But few realize under what disgraceful conditions surgeons and physicians have to work in our local hospital; and they are among the best in the state. Our city is one of the first reproaches to our city that ought to be removed. The only way to remove it is to give the hospital better financial support."

"Much of Town Not As yet."
"There are many other good things about our city that might be mentioned. But there are some things about our city of which we are not proud."

"One of the first things every one notices is the rough roads leading into our city and the rough streets after entering the city. But few cities of its size in Ohio has such terrible streets and sidewalks. In taking a drive of 500 miles in almost any direction, the only rough roads you will find are the ones in and leaving our city. This gives tourists and business men a bad impression and is a real detriment."

"While many of our homes and places of business show civic pride in keeping them painted and in repair, surrounded by beautiful lawns with flowers and shrubbery, yet much of our town is old, dilapidated and not an asset. I know a city with half the population that employs a landscape gardener part of his time to assist all in beautifying their homes and all public plots and streets at very little cost. Tourists are now driving many miles out of their way to see it."

Cites Greatest Stumbling Block.

"The greatest stumbling block to the advancement of our city is the spirit of selfish satisfaction. Too many grumble and growl and find fault, yet are not willing to put their shoulders to the wheel and help make it a bigger and better city. They are not satisfied with it as it is but will not give a dollar or do a thing to make it better. They are not willing to pay the price to have things changed."

"Too many of our citizens, in comparing our town with others that have grown twice as fast, with false and obstructive pride say we want quality not quantity; we do not want steel mills and other factories because it would bring into our town thousands of undesirable citizens, besides the smoke and dirt of the mills."

"True we do not have many foreigners and do have as a whole a fine class of people. But remember the water that does not run will soon become stagnant and be unfit for any use. The wheat that is not harvested will go to seed and all the grain will drop out and leave nothing but chaff in the head. Water that stands still will never grind any corn. The great need of our city is diversified industries. But we are too self-satisfied to go after them and get them. Our high taxes and other hindrances prevent them from locating here."

Too Many Knockers.
"Too many knock our city, instead of boosting. Such people should be informed that the road out of the city they despise so much is open whenever they want to leave. Boost or get out."

"Much of the criticism is directed against the speakeasies, drinking and gambling in our city. Our city is not the worst; many cities have far more drinking and gambling than ours. Yet it certainly is an open disgrace that so many are allowed to run practically wide open here. Any one with two eyes can see men go in and out, slip away to a gang of men and then soon we see men staggering along our streets. These places are a disgrace to our city and ought to be padlocked. The idea of arresting people eight or ten times for selling liquor is ridiculous. The idea that these places cannot be closed is not true."

"The one above all others who is to blame for such conditions is the so-called respectable citizen who buys from the bootlegger, whether he is a big business man, a professional man or who he is. They do not become partners with those who are selling the stuff. Even officers who are sworn to uphold the law and prevent drinking are said to become intoxicated themselves. Such a reproach to the city ought to be removed. And the voters ought to see that it is removed. "Removing these reproaches will not be an easy task but they should and can be removed and we are the ones to do it. What are you doing?"

PARENTS OF HIS VICTIM AND WIFE OF SNOOK

themselves. Such a reproach to the city ought to be removed. And the voters ought to see that it is removed. "Removing these reproaches will not be an easy task but they should and can be removed and we are the ones to do it. What are you doing?"

Church of Christ

That atheism forms one of the serious handicaps to Christianity in South America was averred by Mrs. Howard Holroyd, at the First Church of Christ yesterday morning when, following a several years stay in the Argentine as a missionary, she gave an account of her experiences.

Introduced by Mrs. Kurt Bergner, who represented the Young Women's Missionary society, she declared that since she had determined to go into the foreign field while attending the First Church of Christ of East Liverpool she really regarded it as her church home.

For several years as the former Miss Leanne McMahon she was a teacher of Latin in the East Liverpool high school.

In the evening her husband, the Rev. Mr. Holroyd, occupied the pulpit. In his address he stressed the activities of the educational arm of the missionary work done by him in his South American station. He is the representative of a Steubenville church.

The gospel of Jesus Christ is needed as much in South America as it is in India and Africa," declared Mrs. Holroyd. "There is work there for those to come. People there are longing for something they can really believe."

She stated that the name "Jesus" was used with such abandon in many different ways as to make it a sacrilegious term. One concern in the country advertises its wine as "The Tears of Jesus," she said. "A sign suggesting the benefits to be derived from the use of certain cigarettes avers that "If Jesus were living now He would use that brand of cigarettes."

She said that women were more or less unhappy in South America since they have no rights as compared with men. The latter are supreme.

How young girls are not permitted to go out unchaperoned was pointed out by her. "They lean over balconies to talk to men and when the latter enter a home they are engaged," she explained.

She noted that many husbands have more than one establishment and awfully ordinary could do little but affect to not know there was a second woman in her life. The great prevalence of servant girls there was also mentioned by her. "Servant girls except in a few protected instances are held to be the prey of men," she asserted.

"Men go in for the professions in extraordinary numbers because they feel it is beneath their dignity to labor with their hands," she said. "Even women in shops will not reach one to hand left there for work to be done upon it but must ask a servant to hand it to the customer," she declared.

She also told of the glaring dishonesty among many of the people who feel it is proper to pick up anything that may be left around a home or a place of business.

Power Class Hears Address

The Rev. J. M. Smith, former pastor of the Anderson Methodist Episcopal church here, now of New York state, addressed the members of the Power Class of the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning. His subject was "The Courage to Face Realities."

"Men and women face physical and intellectual realities with natural ease, but hesitate to take the same step in spiritual and moral values," he said. "Many seem to balk on the surface of things."

The challenge of the moment and always for that matter is to face the fact of sin," he said.

He mentioned a transformation in a church of another denomination which he knew in which the pastor came to realize the fact of sin in his life and gave himself utterly to Christ which caused an amazing change to occur in his congregation.

The Rev. Mr. Smith stressed the need for a finding of the will of God in the individual soul rather than the acquirement of a spiritual transformation for the avowed purpose of having power over others in which there may be personal spiritual danger. "Religion," he concluded, "is not an easy way out, but rather a hard way in."

Methodist Protestant

During the absence of the Rev. John F. Dimitt from the First Methodist Protestant church pulp while on his vacation, the Rev. L. C. Nomborg, of Wellsville, preached yesterday morning. His subject was "The Foundations of Christian Faith," which he based upon Peter's confession.

His own place in the Wellsville pulpit was filled by the president of the board of stewards of the East Liverpool Methodist Protestant church, Charles W. Bowman.

YES, SIR, CATS HAVE NINE LIVES!

Claude Figley, truck driver for Peter Milliron, today believes that cats have nine lives.

James Rayle, Market street garage owner, reported to Patrolman Robert Berger yesterday afternoon that neighbors were complaining about a dead cat lying at the bottom of an outside stairway in front of the McNutt Printing company plant.

Berger investigated and ordered Milliron to take the cat to the incinerator. Figley was sent for the cat and when he attempted to lift the animal in his shovel, it arose, scampered up the steps and disappeared.

First Methodist Episcopal church last night. In the morning the pulpit was filled by the Rev. Gilbert Hoff, of Oakland, Calif., who is visiting relatives here. He preached at the First Methodist Protestant church last Sunday.

His subject was "Thou Shalt Call His Name Jesus." In the service E. K. Bennett, jr., contributed a trombone solo, "The Holy City."

The soloists at the evening service included Mrs. Fern Jackson and Mrs. Eleanor Giles.

Duets were given by Mrs. J. W. Whitfield and Miss Mabel Washington and the latter with Miss Wilma Archie.

The Rev. J. W. Whitfield spoke briefly to the large congregation. He explained the need of a new church for his congregation.

The offering as a consequence was turned over to the building fund of his congregation.

Church of Nazarene.

"The spiritual life that is properly attained and lived will have a powerful attraction upon the unsaved," declared the Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the First Nazarene church yesterday morning when he spoke on the subject, "Good News." In the evening he discussed the "Second Coming of Christ."

He discussed the implanting of the spiritual life, its manifestation and results in the morning service.

In the transformation of a soul by which sinners come from darkness into light there is the acquirement of God which makes for a certainty His presence in the redeemed person and guarantees a power that will attract those without into His fold and protective care, he said.

Members of the church in large numbers are planning to attend the Hollow Rock camp meeting which begins this week, it was announced.

to force that man into the jury box," shouted Ricketts during the argument. "And he has a fixed opinion."

"Don't try to scare me, Mr. Ricketts," retorted the much younger Mr. Chester.

The court wrapped for order and the examination of Trimble continued. He was finally excused.

Snook Slumbers in Chair.
Dr. Snook, looking rather pale today, sat slumped in his chair paying little attention to the proceedings. Frequently he closed his eyes and seemed to be lost in thought. He paid no attention to the big audience of girls and women who gazed at him.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin T. Hix, parents of the slain girl, sat twenty paces away. They seemed to be wilted. Finally, the jury box was filled when Donald E. Post, bookkeeper in a bank, was accepted.

He took seat No. 2 and the court declared a recess.

It will be necessary, however, to select a thirteenth, or emergency juror.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

By W. S. Cousins.
International News Service Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Lower prices for stocks, grain and cotton at the start of the new week reflected chiefly Wall Street's nervousness over money supplies. Reserve banks have been doing nothing to help the situation and calls for funds from the local banks have been increasing.

With few exceptions stock prices dropped in a slow market, with stock sales in the first half-hour about 60 per cent of last week's regular volume. Bears sowed the financial district with rumors about stocks being "passed from strong to weak hands," but there was no particular weakness in the action of favorite stocks today. A drop of a point or two generally meant the gobbling up of stocks by bargain-hunters who have been on hand in increasing numbers since the last break in the market.

RIGHT OF WAY CAN NEVER PAY THE DAMAGES

Automobiles to the right of him, trucks to the left of him, pedestrians in front of him, but onward rode the motorist, brave and courageous—

And then a couple of hospital internes picked him up at the next block got his name so they could annoy him when the doctors got through with him and the wrecker unwound a crankcase from his neck and his bright shiny new car was just like it was in the factory—in pieces—he opened his eyes for a moment and sighed—"Anyhow, I had the right of way!"

You would be surprised, says C. W. Arnold, Wellsville, one of the leading insurance company heads in the district, how many otherwise sensible folks learn to depend on that invisible quality, right of way, when they are motoring.

And, he further points out, if they MUST think of right of way as an inalienable something which is to be defended at all costs, then they should take time out for a few moments and think what a crash, like this fellow in the paragraph up above there had, would cause to his bank account.

Say, for example, this man had no insurance. He hits another car, or is hit by one. It makes little difference, the effect is substantially the same. And, further, suppose he seriously injures a person, or, at the worst, his auto inflicts injuries from which a person dies. Besides wrecking his own car, he damages another and is responsible, more or less, for an injury or death! He may lose his entire property, his home, his bank account, if he is an average person, and as a result places in jeopardy the future of his family.

All of which is pointed out simply to show that regardless of whether you are right or wrong, adequate insurance will protect you, whatever happens.

We have rights—you bet we have. But—sometimes other people knock them galley west—and furthermore, get away with it.

And when you're in an automobile accident and all you've got to fall back on is "rights"—Well, all you can do is hope for the best and expect the worst.

Arnold, whose office is conveniently located in Main street between Fourth and Fifth streets, can insure you on virtually anything insurable. You will find him capable, courteous and dependable to deal with.

And—do it now—before something happens.

Use Tydol, Veedol—Try to Find Knock Takes the Discordant "Ping" From the Engine and Instills Sweet Harmony Of Perfectly Delivered Power.

Dale "Red" Jackson and Forrest O'Brien, who rode the "St. Louis Robin" to fame and quite a little fortune as they shattered all fueling endurance flight records as they rammed around among the clouds above the metropolis of the "Show Me" state, couldn't help but partial to Tydol and Veedol products.

In many other instances these two products have proven their superiority in many fields and today in East Liverpool continue to deliver miles of untold satisfaction to every gallon of gas and every quart of oil.

The Midway Oil company and its 15 or so associate dealers in the district vouch for Veedol and Tydol products. They are proud of them and want motorists of this district to share in the satisfaction which comes with their use.

There must be a reason, and here it is: Tydol gasoline gives your motor maximum power, speed and flexibility without a knock and Veedol motor oil protects its delicate parts from excessive wear at high speed.

Today, the discriminating motorist, who makes a pet of his motor, specifies those high quality requirements that go to make up the super motor fuel and lubricant and—he gets them in Tydol and Veedol products.

You can try this gasoline in your motor today and be amazed at the super power, high test, antiknock quality at no extra cost. Lubricate your car with Veedol, get more power, smoother performance, and the low operating cost that follows flawless protection.

Tydol gasoline is known, you will observe, as the gas which reduces the knock to zero. It takes that "ping" out of the engine and substitutes instead the sweet harmony of perfectly delivered power. Drive up to a Tydol-Veedol station the next time.

Every car on the road is a used car, so the automobile dealer tells us, and, of course, he's right about it.

Some are used more than others, however. Some are abused. Carelessness in operating and handling an automobile eventually costs the owner plenty of dough.

Every motorist should take pride in his car and every effort to keep its appearance up to par.

And that doesn't mean a "hole in one."

But if this should happen, let it not cause you any undue worry or grief.

Because such things as this are apt to occur, and mechanical experts have established shops to meet the contingency.

Duty's Garage, 126 Rural Lane, does a lot of this work, specializing in bumping, body and fender work.

Their bumping will take away the effects of bumping. And by bumping we mean the process through which workmen pound or bump out the knots and dents in automobile fenders and bodies. They have specialized in this work, as well as welding and carbon burning, and other work of a similar nature, over a long period of years and, consequently, are capable of turning out work with a guarantee of satisfaction behind it.

BUYING COAL NOW IS REAL INVESTMENT

Buying your coal for the coming winter, right now, is like putting money in the bank or investing in some sound, reliable bonds.

You save and, naturally, your savings increase in proportion to the amount you are compelled to purchase to see you through the winter.

Parsons Coal company is willing to do their share in this preparation move.

They can supply you with all the coal you need right now, good coal and especially that famous West Virginia splint brand. That's pretty hard to beat. A lot of folks use it in open fireplaces, they like it so well.

And right now the Parsons Coal company can quote you special prices on coal. It's not likely, you know, that coal is going to drop any when winter comes. Indeed no! It'll probably start to climb as the mercury heads the other way.

Supply and demand governs coal prices, as it does everything else, and the home owner who is smart will take advantage of low rates and prompt service now and he'll enjoy his August vacation better and be able to root more lustily at the fall football games when he knows his coal bins are full.

They are specialists in refinishing. Their field of activities also takes in other items but, in the main, these are the important functions of this thriving East End establishment.

Established for a number of years, the Dreier shop has prospered through its ability to do everything that it sets out to accomplish in the automobile field.

In the first place, they use Dupont Duco refinishing materials exclusively and that means something to the man who is in any way familiar with the virtues and the shortcomings of paint in its manifold forms.

They rebuild cars which have been wrecked. The mechanics at Dreier's will put them together again and they will be as good as they've ever been. Of course they confine their activities to actual reconstruction work, such as rebuilding bodies, straightening axles, fenders, frames, etc., but do not attempt to go into mechanical details.

They're easily located, right at the bottom of the hill descending into Mulberry street, East End.

Sixty - Sixth Anniversary of Capture Of Rebel Raider At West Point Marked

Gen. John Morgan Reached Farthest Point North.

East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salineville and virtually all sections of Columbiana county were at a high pitch of excitement 66 years ago this month. Indeed history was then made for it marked the occasion when Confederate troops in the Civil war reached the farthest point north they were destined to touch. For on July 26, 1863, the rebel leader, General John H. Morgan, who had terrorized the north, was brought to bay and captured at West Point where for nearly two decades a monument has marked the spot on which he surrendered.

In the home of E. G. Whitacre, of Highland avenue, Wellsville, are the magnificent steel-bladed sword, the cavalry saber and one of the golden spurs which the invading officer wore during his dash through the northern states, a military maneuver that both startled and excited the admiration of even the opposing forces. For nearly three score years and ten these intimate possessions of General Morgan have been kept in the Whitacre family.

In the Carnegie public library, East Fourth street, is the stump of the tree under which General Morgan surrendered. In one of the cases in the relic room on the second floor lies a pair of handcuffs which allegedly were worn by the captured general for an interim after he capitulated.

Horses Brought to Wellsville.
Could time be turned backward this interval persons on and about Highland avenue and adjacent hills in Wellsville could look down upon more horses tied within the basin just off the creek near the bridge at that point than were ever beheld at one time there. For it was there the captured horses of the invading cavalry were brought after the surrender of Morgan.

There were three hotels in Wellsville at the time—the Whitacre, Bean and Missouri. The Whitacre house was situated on the present site of the People's National bank, Main street. It had a four-story front and was composed of some 108 rooms, making it the largest hostelry between Pittsburgh, Pa., and Wheeling, W. Va. It was owned by the late Thomas W. Whitacre. In the family possessions of his sons, E. G. and H. H. Whitacre, are pictures of this one-time imposing housing structure.

After his capture General Morgan and his men were brought to Wellsville. He and his staff were taken initially to the Pennsylvania railroad station. He was later removed to the Whitacre house where all of his officers and some of his men were kept during the night.

Shined Raider's Shoes.
"He was treated as a general," declared E. G. Whitacre in recalling the historic event in which he played a part, following his boyish instinct, he had the distinction of blacking the boots of the Confederate general who knew that he was then on his way to the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus for indefinite imprisonment. "He tossed me a 50-cent piece when I completed the job," Whitacre said. "That was some money, in those days and it was not Confederate money either, for Morgan had procured northern coin during and previous to his raid."

"Because he was a general we gave him the private rooms of my mother's apartment in which to stay for the night," he said. "He was a pleasing personage and of very distinguished appearance. He was considerate himself and we accorded him similar treatment. Indeed many of the northern officers came to call upon him and his officers during their stay in our house."

Confederate's Sword Hangs in Whitacre Home in Wellsville.

Whitacre then related how the prized personal possession of the general came into the possession of his father and relatives.

"Realizing that he could not take his side arms to the penitentiary, he, just before he left us the next morning, gave my father his sword," he explained.

Escaped From Prison.
He then gave to my brother, Harvey Whitacre, his cavalry saber and to my cousin, the late John Bean, the golden spur remaining in his possession. We have all of these years kept them as relics of the events in which we and our parents had final parts."

At intervals throughout this long interim there has been persons who have come to the Whitacre home to see these prizes of a day in which war's alarm filled the land hereabouts.

Gen. Morgan was taken to the penitentiary from where he managed to escape some months later. He returned through the northern lines into the southland where he again was given a command. In another daring undertaking into the Union fastnesses of Tennessee he was a victim of an opponent's bullet.

SCOTLAND YARD MYSTERY AT CERAMI

A scene from "Behind That Curtain" Fox Movietone All-Talking Feature

London streets under cover of a midnight fog; gay bazaars and Hindu hovel of Peshawar; the scenic splendor of the Persian desert; San Francisco's teeming Chinatown—these are among the backgrounds of the romantic mystery drama, "Behind That Curtain," a Fox Movietone all talking production, at the Cerami three days starting today.

The warning of London "bobbies" to late revelers; the squeal of camels on the desert and the barbaric songs of their drivers around the campfire; the chatter of Chinese playboys in San Francisco's Oriental quarter; East Indian patois in Peshawar's streets and the measured, level tones of cultured Englishmen—"Behind That Curtain," it is said, brings them all to the ears of picturegoers.

FINDS OWA-TON-NA A FINE SYSTEMIC TONIC

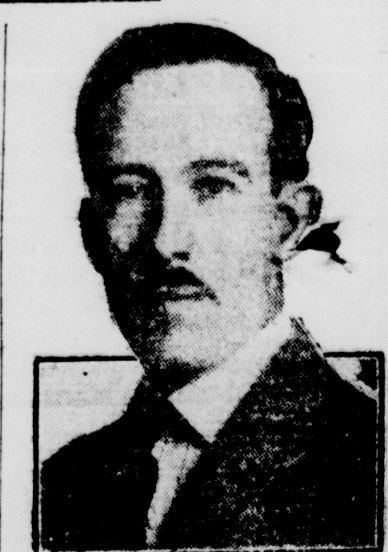

Popular Local Mayoralty Candidate Finds This Fine Old Indian Remedy a Valuable Aid in Keeping Fit.

Harmful poisons, it almost seems in no matter what form, are routed from the system when this natural compound is put to work. Nature's own roots, herbs, barks and berries as formulated in Owa-Ton-Na just seem to cleanse the system from top to bottom. Stomach, liver and kidney disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and a general run down condition of health have responded in so many thousands of cases that it is small wonder that the praise of Owa-Ton-Na has spread so rapidly wherever it has been introduced. Day after day eager health seekers report marvelous benefits not only in East Liverpool but all over this broad land. Men, women, and children of all ages and all walks of life are equally enthusiastic about its benefits.

Particularly interesting is the endorsement of Mr. Allen Burrows, 3351 East 5th St., E. Liverpool, Ohio, one of E. Liverpool's most popular progressive residents, well known and with a host of friends who know that Mr. Burrows word can be taken as fact. He says: "For the past two years, I have had considerable trouble with indigestion and constipation. Although I had tried many treatments and medicines trying to find relief, nothing seemed to touch the spot until I tried Owa-Ton-Na."

"Laxatives just seemed to make my constipation worse, I hated to be taking laxatives constantly since I knew the result would be that I would have to continue taking them. My stomach frequently gave me no end of distress, gas and bloating spells seemed to follow every meal. Frequently I would have headaches that made me feel miserable and made it hard for me to tend to my work. I also suffered with dizziness and backaches."

"So many people were talking about this fine old Indian Remedy, Owa-Ton-Na, that I thought I would give it a trial and much to my surprise, it seemed to go right after my trouble and remove it. Within a short time, I could get a good meal without suffering much afterwards. My bowels started to function normally, dizzy spells and backaches disappeared. Now I can eat almost anything I want without suffering afterwards. Food digests good and my appetite is fine. My nerves are quieted down, I go to bed at night and get a good nights sleep. Owa-Ton-Na certainly is a fine medicine and the only medicine that ever did me any good."

The Owa-Ton-Na of which Mr. Burrows speaks so highly is being explained daily at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 E. 6th St., where for a short time, a special laboratory representative is meeting the public. Why not call and learn for yourself today the merits of Owa-Ton-Na, and how best to take it for quick relief of your ailments. This service is yours no obligation. Owa-Ton-Na is also sold at Carnahan's East End Store and Newell, W. Va. Store.—Ad.

YANKS WIN LAST FIVE BUT FAIL TO GAIN ON MACKS

A's Cop Six Out of Seven To Lead By 10 Games

Huggins' Hopes Rest in Ability of Right Handers To Produce; Bucs Trailing Cubs by Two and One Half Contests.

By LES CONKLIN.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The New York Yankees and the Pittsburgh Pirates, running in second place down the backstretch of the major league pennant races, are playing the same brand of ball, each outfit having won 58 games and lost 33 for a percentage of .637. But while this pace has kept the Pirates within 2 1/2 games of the Cubs, the Yankees have the misfortune to be in the same league with a club that has won 70 games with two more months of play remaining.

Just how tough is the task of the Yankees, is illustrated by the fact that they have won their last five games but failed to gain on the Athletics, who copped six out of seven last week. The Pirates took four out of seven but lost valuable ground to the Cubs, who followed up a successful eastern trip by winning seven straight on their own lot.

Although 10 full games and a hundred percentage points behind the Mackmen, the Yankees still have a chance if Huggins can bring his right-handed twirlers into shape. Practically all of the victories chalked up by the champions in the last month have been scored by their southpaws. Henry Johnson was knocked out by the Browns yesterday but old Tom Zachary, turning in his sixth straight win, saved the game with the aid of some heavy stickwork by Ruth and Gehrig. The Buster drove in four runs with a double, a triple and his 25th homer, while the Babe's 24th round-tripper, coming in the twelfth inning, was the coup de grace that gave the Huggins a 7 to 6 decision.

A six-run rally in the third inning, featured by Stephenson's homer, enabled Guy Bush of the Cubs to breeze along to a 7 to 2 triumph over the Phillies, his fourteenth victory of the season.

With John McGraw back on the job and playing the last, the Giants broke loose with a rash of 19 base hits, kayoed Grover Alexander and swamped the Cardinals, 10 to 5. Met Out clinched his 28th homer.

Clark and Vance, Brooklyn's mound ace, dropped two close ones to the rejuvenated Reds, 4 to 3 and 7 to 5. Kyle Graham, formerly with the Boston Braves, pitched Detroit to a 5 to 3 win over the Red Sox.

Cleveland put the bee on the senators for the third game in succession, 9 to 6. Shoffner, rookie from Jersey City, hurled the last six innings and received credit for the victory.

Baker Boy Seeking Revenge

Risko Hopes to Upset Rocco in Tonight's Battle.

CLEVELAND, July 29.—Just a food old-fashioned scrap is expected tonight when Johnny Risko and Emmet Rocco start off on a 12-round boxing journey in the public hall ring as the top card on the American Legion fight show here.

Risko, who remembers only too well another bout with Rocco not so long ago, admitted today that he has something he wants to give Rocco. Johnny, it seems, still begrudges Rocco his victory last spring when the two fighters mixed things up.

"I guess I win by knockout," Risko jabbered today.

Rocco, besides appearing in tip-top physical condition, seemed quite a bit more confident today than he seemed about this time before his last encounter with Risko. That victory it was adjudged, put Rocco on edge with the belief that what he did once he can do again.

Tonight's bout is scheduled for 12 rounds and does have it that it will probably reach the limit.

In the semi-final Arvin Spence has been matched with Rosy Rosales. The preliminary bouts scheduled are: Bob Moody vs. Tom Williams. Gene Stanton vs. Frankie Lennon and Nick Martin vs. Harry Firestone.

COLUMBUS NINE IN FIFTH PLACE

The Columbus Senators climbed into fifth position in the American association pennant race yesterday, even though the aggregation lost its game with St. Paul. It was a lucky break for the Ohio team.

And with Columbus taking a higher berth, Louisville slipped back into sixth place.

However, Columbus is only .001 percent ahead of the Colonels, and unless the Buckeyes win their games of the next three days, their sudden ascension will undoubtedly turn to disaster.

Columbus lost to St. Paul by a 7-to-1 decision. Louisville's double defeat at the hands of Kansas City by 6-to-0 and 2-to-1 scores, completed the fore-going change.

Kansas City is now a safe first, for the time being.

Milwaukee surprised even itself when it won a double-header from Indianapolis. The decisions were 8 to 6, and 6 to 4. Milwaukee is seventh and Indianapolis is fourth, neither having any immediate future.

Toledo, which is basking in the cellar, copped from Minneapolis when its slugers batted out 10 runs while the Minn. club amass only four tallies. Minneapolis is in third position and it seems it is scheduled to stay there for more than a little while.

Encouraged by its large profits last year the Manila railroad will extend its service to all parts of Luzon, P. I.

Stubber Golfers Victors

Defeat Local Club Team By Narrow Margin.

East Liverpool Country club golfers are "battering 500" today in their schedule of inter-club matches as a result of their defeat Saturday by the Steubenville club on the Steubenville course.

The final reckoning was 61 to 53 which indicates that it was close enough.

The local club has played two matches and has two more to negotiate.

Their first start of the campaign, against the Tippecanoe Country club of Youngstown, gave them a decisive victory on the local course.

But they'll meet the Mahoning countians again next Thursday afternoon on the Tippecanoe course.

Return engagement with the Stubbers will be staged on the East Liverpool course Saturday, Aug. 31.

Wells in Hall Final.

In one of the best matches of the tournament to date and, possibly, the season, on the East Liverpool Country club course, J. M. Wells advanced to the final in the annual Hall Memorial meet yesterday by winning from R. T. "Pete" Hall, one up.

William H. Tefft and W. A. Betz are the other semi-finalists and they will battle for the right to play Wells for the trophy.

Hall had a great first round, finishing with a 36 and two up on the former state amateur champion.

But Wells took a three on the first hole of the second and was one down. They halved No. 2 but Hall stepped out to take the third. They halved the fourth and at this point Wells began the drive which finally overtook Hall. Two down on the fourth, Wells won three straight holes and came off the seventh one up on his youthful adversary.

Hall rallied on the eighth and won that hole which put the semi-finalists all square as they teed off for the ninth.

Both had beautiful drives but Hall stroked into a trap on his second shot and took a five to hole out, Wells finishing with a par four.

Wells reached the semi-finals by defeating V. D. Kinnan in the first round and T. E. Lewis, 4 and 3, in the second.

Hall first overcame G. R. Thomas and then defeated C. C. Ashbaugh, 6 to 5, after the latter had won from H. S. Russell in the first round.

Betz defeated W. E. Wells, Jr., while C. W. Ashbaugh was winning from Emerson Hall and in the second round Betz nosed out Ashbaugh, 2 and 1.

Tefft won from J. T. Blue and Wasbutzky defeated C. C. Pusey in the first round and Tefft triumphed over Pusey by a 3 and 2 count in the second.

FRANCE'S NET POWER IS WANING

Allison and Van Ryn Are Yankee Threats.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 29.—France, the champion nation of all the world of lawn tennis, is tottering on its throne today, the leader for another year, perhaps two, as the result of its victory yesterday in the Davis cup challenge round by three matches to two.

As I see it, the abiding difference between the contending teams was that America used two men to win one match, whereas France needed only one man, Henri Cochet, to win two.

Cochet, hailed everywhere as the greatest of his day, alone stood between America and a reclamation of the cup. One man only beat the best we had by his victories in the singles over Bill Tilden and George Lott but the one man who won twice cannot last indefinitely while the two Americans who won once figure to keep on winning until the years grow weary of the matter.

Ultimately, as water wears its hole in stone, this pair, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, must wear down France's resistance and prove the wedge that will pry the trophy from its moorings. They have assured us of at least one point in every Davis cup round to be played during the next five years. They have pointed the way to the American Davis cup committee with their victories at Wimbledon and in the challenge round against Borota and Cochet and, from now on the committee can have no recourse but to accept the talliesman. They have established the fact that America soon is to win and that it is the young idea of the country who will do it. They have restored, in a matter of a few hours, a semblance of the prestige we dissipated over a period of years.

Just a couple of brash kids whose previous acquaintance with Davis cup play was gained from the stands, they

Chester and K.T.K. To Clash

News Nine Hopes to Break Into Win Column.

TWO Inter City league rivals will clash tonight at Smith Field, Chester.

The Chester News nine, first half championship combine, but defeated in three straight starts of the second half, will be battling to break the ice and get into the win column.

The Katics, who were nosed out by the West Virginians in the first half flag drive by the narrow margin of one game and, consequently, are determined to cop the second half, will be scrapping to boost their standing.

The Katics are tied at the present time with Wellsville for second place.

A K. T. K. victory would give the local potters undisputed possession of second place and drop Wellsville to third. On the other hand, a defeat would slide the Katics into third place.

Having tasted the sweets of three straight victories, the Homer Laughlin club of Newell will be hard to beat from now on and will probably give the Wellsville club a lot of trouble when they tangle tomorrow night at Wellsville.

Hands Unseen

New Mystery Story of "Gray Phantom,"

Lovable Outlaw.

By Herman Landon

Copyright by Street and Smith Corporation.

"Well, it's a joke on Hollister!" ejaculated the lieutenant. "Bet a pair of pink socks he never expected to be taken down his own emergency exit with hand-cuffs on."

"Scarcely," replied Hollister, a thin, malignant smile playing about his lips. "But you are wrong, Lieutenant. The joke is on you."

They looked at him uncomprehendingly, noticed the cold, malevolent glitter in his beady eyes. Despite his handcuffed hands, he had drawn himself up into an attitude of defiance. "There was one thing you neglected to point out, Vanardy. These walls, and also those of the little hall in the back, are sound-proof."

"Well, what of it?" demanded Culligore.

The prisoner smiled inscrutably. "We could have quite a little skirmish without disturbing your friends in the other parts of the house."

"Culligore gave him a blank stare. "He's gone plumb dippy," he remarked to Vanardy.

"On the contrary," declared Hollister, "my mind is several leaps ahead of yours. It was ridiculous of you to think that I would be caught so easily. Neither of you, my friends will leave this place alive. Very soon you will be sleeping the long, long sleep."

Culligore wagged his head bewilderedly. "Cracked," he declared. "Plumb cracked."

A faint, silken smile hovered about the prisoner's lips. "The long, long sleep," he repeated, rolling each syllable on his tongue. "I think I mentioned, Vanardy, while we were conversing in the room upstairs, that I didn't come here alone tonight. Would you kindly," and he turned to the lieutenant, "open that door."

He pointed toward the door leading into the little hall where Vanardy's encounter with William had taken place. The lieutenant looked utterly nonplussed, but Vanardy concealed a smile behind his palm.

"Oblige him, Culligore," he said evenly, inserting his right hand in the side where he carried his pistol. "It can do no harm."

With a shrug, the lieutenant stepped to the door and flung it open; then shrank back a few steps as half a dozen evil-looking characters rushed into the room, each brandishing a knife or a firearm.

"Excellent!" murmured Hollister, elatedly. "Now we shall proceed to put the Gray Phantom to sleep."

Against All Odds.

For an instant Vanardy looked down at his bandaged arm, then tightened his hold on the pistol in his side pocket. Coolly, with a faint smile on his lips, he ran his glance over the motley collection of sullen, hard-ened faces. They were a formidable throng, but it was plain at a glance that they lacked the characteristics which the Gray Phantom had always looked for in his adherents. These men would fight with the weapons of treachery and brute force, not with subtlety and finesse.

Culligore had fallen back against the wall, and now he stood with pistol firmly leveled, prepared to shoot the first man who made a hostile move. Hollister, with a bland smile on his villainous-looking face, appeared to find huge enjoyment in the lieutenant's discomfort.

"Ever see such a tough-looking lot?" asked Culligore with a glance at Vanardy. "It must be Hollister's crew of run-runners. Where is your gat? We'll give them a run for their money, even if they're six against us two, and you with a game arm."

Vanardy chuckled softly, and the lieutenant regarded him curiously, as if at a loss to understand his coolness.

"Stand back," Hollister told the vicious-looking crew. "There is no hurry. The Gray Phantom's exit from this sorry world must be marked with decorum and dignity. Have you anything to say, Vanardy, before we proceed?"

Vanardy turned from his inspection of the gang and fixed Hollister with a level gaze.

"I am glad to see Whipple is among those present," he declared. "I have a particular goose to pick with him."

Hollister lifted his brows, then smiled confidently. "You are keeping up your bravado to the last, I see. That was to be expected of The Gray Phantom. It's a great thing to the hilarious at one's own funeral. I am in a magnanimous mood just at present. Perhaps you have a favor to ask."

There was a gleam of mockery in his eyes. Evidently he enjoyed the situation and was anxious to prolong it. "I have," said Vanardy. "I don't like to step out of this world with an unsolved problem on my mind. One thing has been puzzling me, Hollister. Why did you hate Craig? Was it because he killed Jack Frey?"

"Hardly. I knew Jack Frey in the old days, but he was no friend of mine. I told you, Vanardy, that I have only one passion, and that is for money. All my other feelings grow out of that one passion. Craig could have killed my best friend, and still I would not have hated him for it. I don't waste time on cheap emotions. If I hate, I hate for a good reason."

"Long ago, when we were both young, Craig played me as vile a trick as one man ever perpetrated on another. We needn't go into details, except to say that it had to do with a money deal."

"I might have guessed it had to do with money," murmured Vanardy sarcastically. "And you went on hating Craig all these years, of course. He never recognized you as Parson Jim?"

"He did not," with a gleeful chuckle. "He knew me only as Bryan Hollister. We lived in this locality as neighbors for years. He called on me occasionally, but he never suspected that while we sat chatting pleasantly over a game of chess I was anticipating the day when I would settle my score with him. Of course, I wanted him to recognize me before I killed him. My revenge wouldn't have been complete otherwise. Maybe you know, Vanardy, that one's perceptions are marvelously acute when the terror of death is upon one. When I had him down on the floor, I just gave Craig one glimpse of my face, and then he knew me. It was delicious, really!"

He laughed malevolently, and his eyes glittered cruelly, as if his imagination were re-creating the death scene.

"Just one more question, Hollister." There was a trace of loathing in Vanardy's tone. "How did you know that Craig murdered Jack Frey? It happened quite a long time ago, I understand."

"So long ago that most people have forgotten it. I don't think there are more than two or three now living, including myself, who know what happened to Jack Frey. You see, Frey merely dropped out of sight. His body was never found. For a few days there was a great deal of speculation, but it soon died down. I learned the facts from a friend of mine who happened to be near the scene, but who for reasons of his own never told me any more."

"Frey was stabbed through the heart, wasn't he?" "I believe so," said Hollister listlessly, as if this phase of the subject did not interest him. "Can I gratify your curiosity on any other points before my estimable friends put you to sleep?"

"I think not," said Vanardy calmly, and then he turned and stepped leisurely toward the outer wall where the exit communicating with the rear porch was located. Culligore eyed him in astonishment.

"Vain hope, Vanardy," Hollister told him. "You can't get out that way. One of my faithful huskies is stationed outside. You might just as well resign yourself to the fact that this is the end."

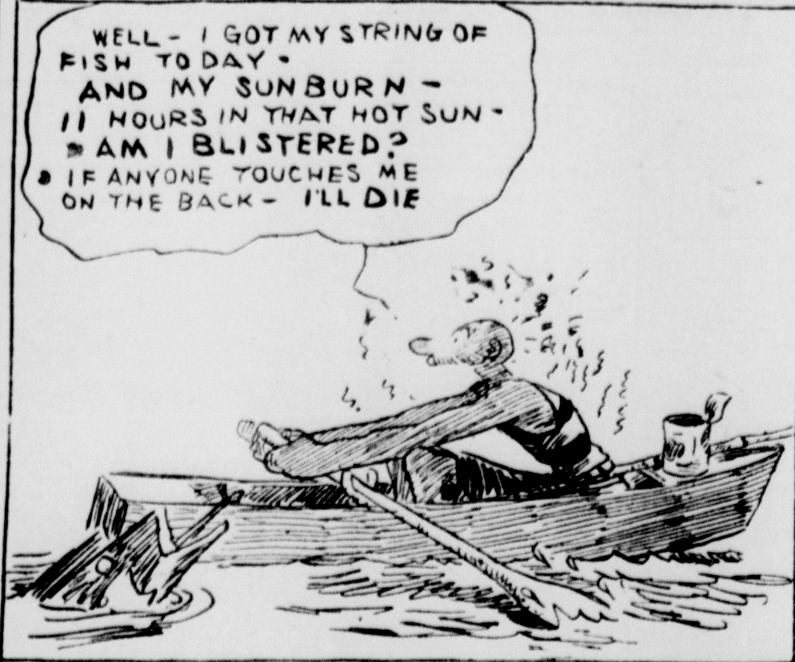

Vanardy ignored him. With a calm and unhurried gait he proceeded to the wall. He made a movement with his hand, and an opening appeared in front of him, admitting a violet puff of wind and rain. His hand went quickly to his pocket: a bit of steel gleamed for an instant in the dusk where he stood, and then a sharp crack tore through the din of the elements. With a casual air he closed the opening, and sauntered over to where Culligore stood.

"Beastly weather outside," he remarked. "The roads will be all mud."

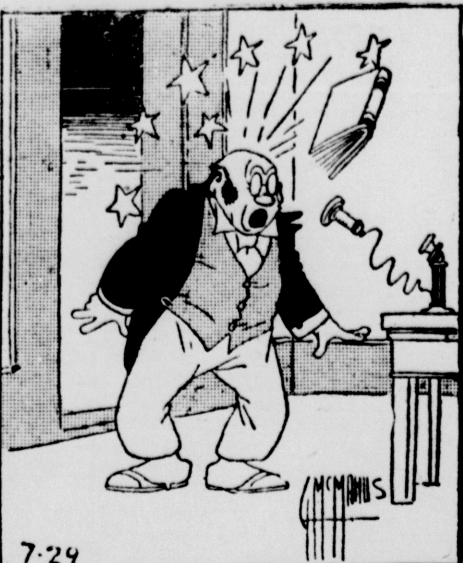

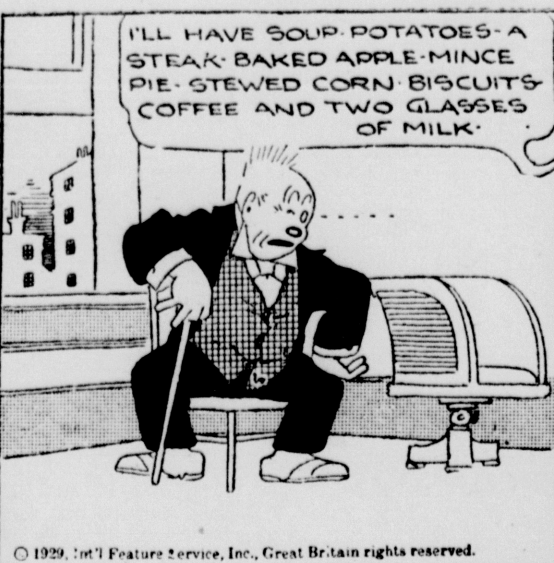

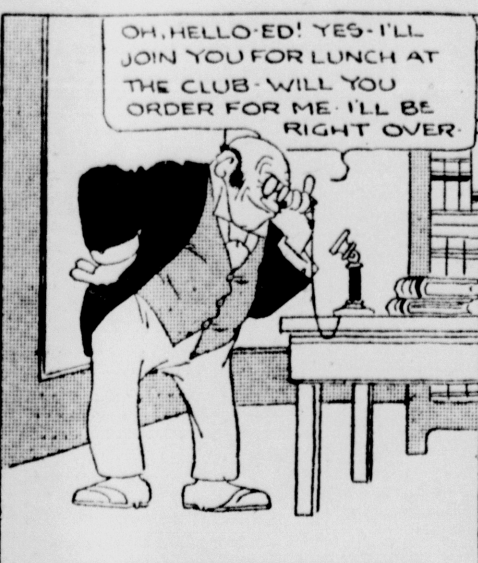

"Don't worry about that," said Hollister mockingly. "The road you are to travel is perfectly dry. By the way, what did you hope to accomplish by that pistol shot? I know there are other people in the house, but they can't help you. If you hoped that the report would be heard in the village a night like this, you are mistaken."

Three to Face Mayor In Hearings Tonight

Mrs. Modesta Lozzi, Third Street, Arrested on Charge of Illegal Possession of Liquor; Two Will Answer Traffic Counts.

WELLSVILLE, O., July 29. — Two men and a woman, the former arrested on traffic charges and the latter on a liquor count, will appear for hearings before Mayor Wallace L. Fogo tonight.

Mrs. Modesta Lozzi, Third street, arrested yesterday by Chief of Police John Fultz and Patrolman Orval Jarvis, is charged with illegal possession of intoxicating liquor.

The officers said they found a pint and a half of alleged liquor at the Lozzi place. One pint bottle, they reported, was full, and the other half full.

Fultz and Jarvis were forced to search for the liquor, finding it concealed in the "drop" section of a sewing machine.

Raymond Culp was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated and James Yost with intoxication.

The former, it is charged, drove his car past a long string of automobiles on the curve west of Silver switch prior to his arrest.

WOMAN HURT IN CAR CRASH

Mrs. Roy Boring Bruised When Auto is Struck.

Mrs. Roy Boring, Cleveland, passenger in an automobile driven by Byron Householder, Danbury avenue and Eighteenth street, her father, en route to the Pennsylvania railroad station here, was severely bruised and shaken up when the Householder machine was struck this morning by a westbound city street car at intersection of Commerce and Seventeenth street.

Mrs. Boring, who had been visiting here, was going to Alliance to meet her husband.

Her father drove their automobile, according to reports, part way across the street when the automobile was hit by the street car. The rear of the machine was damaged by the collision.

Despite the fact that she was feeling the effects of her bruises, Mrs. Boring continued on to the station in order, she said, not to disappoint her husband. It is possible she will return to Wellsville.

THREE CONTESTS FOR NICK'S CLUB

Three engagements with Inter-City league rivals will keep Roy Nicholson's Wellsville club pretty busy this week.

In the three tilts booked, the locals will play every other team in the circuit.

Tomorrow night on the local diamond the locals will meet the Homer Laughlin club of Newell for the second time in the second half. The Wellsville nine dropped its first start against the West Virginians who have won three straight, but expect to even the count tomorrow. On the following night Nicholson's club invades Chester. The locals trimmed the first half champs, 9 to 3, in their first meeting of the second half.

Friday night's tilt will bring the Katties to Wellsville.

INDEPENDENTS TO PLAY SALEM

Two games with the Salem Independents have been booked by Manager Otho Householder of the Wellsville Independent baseball club for the coming weekend.

The Salem club will provide the opposition here Saturday afternoon. On Sunday the locals will play a return engagement with the Quakers on the Salem diamond.

Game scheduled with the Toronto Athletics here last Saturday failed to materialize, through no fault of the local management, when the Toronto club did not make its appearance. Manager Householder, as well as the club and fans in general, were keenly disappointed as a result.
